麻辣经典

Mala (麻辣) translating to numbing and spicy, while tang (烫) means 'boiling hot' in Chinese. Its appeal lies in its fresh ingredients, fragrant spicy sauce and soup base. Made up of Szechuan peppercorns and dried chillies with Mala sauce being the key ingredient of the dish, it originated from a stretch of the Yangtze River in Szechuan, where people made a living from towing boats upstream. This dish has taken the world by storm and we at Honguo aim to bring people together, to create memories and preserve its unique history and cultural identity.
